

Rima Nasr

Clinical and Forensic Psychologist

M Psych (For), BA Psych, MAPS, FCCLP, FCFP

rnasrpsychology@gmail.com

+61 404 481 994

Rima Nasr is as a clinical and forensic psychologist. She has over 18 years of experience, dedicated to the assessment and treatment of [complex] trauma, high risk offenders and individual wellness. She specialises in establishing programs, policies, frameworks, and presentations to improve mental fitness and wellbeing. She works as a security psychologist, contributing to agency priorities in areas such as organisational health, security, complex case assessments and analysis.

Rima provides assessments and reports for individuals and families within:

- Community mental health settings;
- The criminal justice system;
- Civil litigation;
- Child protection; and
- The national intelligence community.

Rima provides supervision and consultation to:

- First responder agencies, personnel and their families;
- Clinicians (registrars and registered psychologists);
- Staff within NGO's, law enforcement and the public sector; and
- Faith based organisations.

Rima's experience and professional interests include:

- Complex trauma;
- Mental health and wellbeing;
- Sexual abuse (victim-survivors and offenders); and
- Personality disorders;
- Attachment issues;
- Insider threat; and
- White collar crimes and counterproductive workplace behaviours.

Rima brings authentic engagement and professionalism to her work, prioritising compassion and cultural sensitivity. She is bilingual in English and Arabic.

Memberships:

- Australian Psychological Society;

- Colleges of Forensic and Clinical Psychologists;
- Australia and New Zealand Association for the Treatment of Sexual Abuse;
- Australasian Society for Traumatic Stress.
- Accredited counsellor with the NSW Children's Commission Child Sex Offender Counsellor Accreditation Scheme;
- Authorised counsellor with the Children's Court Clinic.